

Lambeth Post

www.southlondon-today.co.uk

Thursday, April 25, 2013

S. EAST LONDON'S BUSIEST SUNDAY BOOTSales

Bam The Club Hornsey St/Ilderton Rd SE15 1HB
Sellers from 8am, Cars £10, Vans £15 Hard, grass, indoors
Buyers from 8am • 50p entry • Easy Parking • P12 Bus
1.30pm Dulwich Hamlet FC, Dog Kennel Hill SE22 8BD
Sellers from 12.30, Cars £10, Vans £15 – Big Pitches
Buyers from 12.30-1.30 £1, after 1.30 50p • Easy Parking
East Dulwich Station P13, 40, 176, 185 Buses
Catering and ice cream pitches now available
www.boot-sales.com. Info 020 8309 5696

STUDENTS INSPIRED BY ADVENTURER'S TALES

Inspired by adventurer

See page 3

STUDENTS were treated to the tales of an adventurer when she visited their school on Monday of last week.

Renowned explorer and adventurer Squash Falconer gave a motivational talk to teenagers at Lillian Baylis Technology School in Kennington Lane, Kennington.

Organised by George Kalorkoti of The Worshipful

BY HENRY ELLIS

ever to summit the peak, together raising more than £400,000 - for charities in Tanzania.

On May 1, she will be setting off around Europe on a world record-breaking attempt to cover 3,000 miles in two months on elliptical bikes.

WCIT helped the school become a specialist school focusing on technology and assists it with a range of activities with pupils and staff, including providing two school governors.

Michael Grant, Master of WCIT, said: "WCIT has played a key role in helping develop a culture based on aspiration and high expectations of students."

"I heard her speak at a charity fundraiser at the Mansion House for the Kilimanjaro expedition and was truly impressed by her, and it seemed to me that she could truly enthuse pupils at the school."

Company of Information Technologists (WCIT). Squash's talk drew on her own experiences as the first British woman to ride a motorcycle to the base of Mont Blanc, Europe's tallest peak, climb to the summit and then paraglide down.

She has also scaled Mount Everest and cycled from Lands End to John O'Groats, a 1,024-mile trip.

Earlier this year, she climbed Mount Kilimanjaro as part of the largest group

Squash Falconer, also left with, from left, Andre McDermott, 13, Ahmed Nur, 11 and Marcia Fonseca, 12

Left, students at Lillian Baylis Technology School are enthralled by the motivational talk. Above, Squash Falconer helps Andre McDermott put on the suit she wore to get to Mount Everest

41785MA11

